Illuminati, Freemasonry, the Vatican, the Catholic Church, secret societies: this program explores theories of infiltration, symbols, and networks of influence attributed to the heart of the institution. History, theology, religious geopolitics, and information warfare: an investigation into myths, realities, and divisive narratives.

About the episode

Without giving everything away, we discuss:

- Where do the stories of the "Illuminati" and "Freemasons at the top of the Church" come from? Historical origins, developments, and modern reappropriations.
- Symbols, rites, and the imagination: how interpretations arise and why they circulate so quickly in the digital age.
- The Vatican, councils, recent popes: chronological benchmarks and points of controversy often cited by supporters of these theories.
- Networks of influence and power: what do the sources say, what do historians dispute, and where the gray areas lie.
- Methodology: Distinguish between verifiable facts, opinions, and speculation; cross-reference archives, texts, and academic works.

Editorial note: The guest presents controversial analyses. The show puts these statements into perspective, encourages source verification and respectful debate.
